

AESC Renews Global Partnership with Invenias

Partnership strengthened with the integration of AESC's BlueSteps database and Invenias Platform

10th November 2015, London

The Association of Executive Search and Leadership Consultants is pleased to announce a renewed partnership with Invenias, a global leader in cloud-based executive search solutions.

Glenda K. Brown, Managing Director of AESC and of AESC's executive career management service BlueSteps, commented: "Executive search and leadership consulting firms provide their clients with unparalleled access to a global talent pool. AESC members represent the gold standard in the profession and need excellent technology solutions to ensure they manage their data solutions accordingly. Many of our members trust Invenias as their chosen software provider, and we are delighted to renew this important partnership."

David Grundy, Chief Executive Officer at Invenias, said: "As technology continues to evolve for the executive search profession, we are very happy to renew our important partnership with AESC. Many of our 700 clients around the world are AESC members, and we will continue to provide them with world class software solutions."

The partnership will be strengthened through the integration between Invenias' executive search software and AESC's BlueSteps database of executive-level candidates. The integration facilitates a seamless transfer of confidential candidate information from BlueSteps, exclusively available to AESC members as a benefit of membership, to Invenias' platform, which is used by many AESC member firms to manage their assignments.
