

Invenias Named as Top 10 Recruitment Software Solution Provider 2017

Recognition of impressive growth in new customers using Invenias for in-house strategic hiring teams

26th January, 2017

Invenias, the leading cloud-based platform for executive and strategic hiring, announced today that US-based magazine HR Tech Outlook has listed Invenias as one of the Top 10 Recruitment Software Solution Providers 2017.

Such recognition follows impressive growth in the number of companies who are using the Invenias platform to enable their internal executive and strategic hiring teams to identify and recruit the best talent for executive and strategically important positions. Leading organizations such as Tesla Motors and Expedia run their in-house executive recruiting teams on the Invenias platform.

"We are delighted to recognize Invenias as one of the Top 10 Recruitment Software Solution Providers 2017," said Hanna Wilson, Managing Editor of HR Tech Outlook. "Invenias' proven track record of successful client deployments in the in-house executive search arena demonstrates its commitment to offering world best-in-class technology to help organizations identify the best strategic talent."

Founded in 2005, Invenias has pioneered an intuitive cloud-based platform for executive search that has seen it become the largest company providing software specifically for executive search firms and in-house executive recruiting teams. For the last five years, it has reported year-on-year growth that has significantly outpaced the market and has over 800 customers in its portfolio with offices across the UK, Europe, US, and Asia Pacific.

David Grundy, CEO, Invenias commented: "Hiring the best talent for executive and strategic positions is the greatest enabler of success and competitive advantage for any organization. Failure to do so can be catastrophic to a business. As a company, we strive to ensure that we're constantly innovating to ensure that our clients stay ahead of the game, that's an approach that has really resonated with the in-house executive recruiting market. We are absolutely delighted to be recognized by HR Tech Outlook as one of the Top 10 Recruitment Software Solution Providers in 2017."
